

There once was a squirrel named "Red"
Whom Mark Brigham wanted quite dead
Red went berserk
Up his shorts with a jerk,
And Mark almost stood on his head!

Not nearly as good as The Mighty Ranger, but the best I can do in 30 seconds. And please note, I passed up the terribly obvious puns which were possible in this circumstance... Kerry Hecker. (Editor's note). I did not really want the squirrel dead, only anesthetized, however from a poetic point of view, it is true that there are not many words that rhyme with unconscious!).